The unique and engaging autobiography of Anton GeritsBy Midwest Book ReviewBooks, Friends, And Bibliophilia: Reminiscences Of An Antiquarian Bookseller is the unique and engaging autobiography of Anton Gerits, a Dutch antiquarian bookseller. Readers are treated to a behind-the-scenes look at Europe's antiquarian book trade from 1950 to the present. Featuring a treasury of anecdotes and replete with colorful characters, Gerits writes of his dealing with true legends of the book trade such as H.P. Kraus, Maurice L. Ettinghausen, and Menno Hertzberger. Gerits life story is also the story behind the building of significant private libraries, as well as the Special Collections departments of institutional and academic libraries of Western Europe, Japan, America, and even behind the Iron Curtain during the bleak days of the Cold War era. A past president of the International League of Antiquarian Booksellers and the author of more than a dozen books, Anton Gerits' memoir is enthusiastically recommended reading, especially for book collectors, bibliophiles, librarians, academia, and members of the publishing community.

First edition. Books, Friends, and Bibliophilia is a unique autobiography by a very interesting Dutch antiquarian bookseller. The book is also a well-written look behind the scenes of Europe's antiquarian book trade from 1950 to the present. With a story rich in anecdotes and colorful characters, Anton Gerits introduces us to many of the giants of the trade such as H.P. Kraus, Maurice L. Ettinghausen and Menno Hertzberger with both modesty and wit. He weaves within his work the stories behind the building of important private libraries and the Special Collections department in the institutional libraries of Western Europe and behind the Iron Curtain. Anton Gerits is past President of the International League of Antiquarian Booksellers. He is also the author of over a dozen books, however, this memoir is an excellent overview of his long and fascinating career and will be of interest to collectors and bibliophiles the world over. ix, 400 pages. cloth, dust jacket. 8vo..
