Five StarsBy RoadsportAll L C Smith collectors and fans need this book.

L.C. Smith remains one of America s iconic trademarks in the manufacture of top quality side-by-side and single barrel shotguns. Between 1890 and 1950, 528,980 shotguns were manufactured in over 25 grades/variations. L.C. Smith Production Records by James Stubbendieck is the only book that utilizes the factory production records in breaking down these models into how many were manufactured per year, what gauges they were produced in, the various barrel lengths, and in most cases, the totals of the various options available.

About the Author James Stubbendieck is a long-time contributing editor for the Blue Book of Gun Values. He works with the L.C. Smith Collectors Association, providing research letters for L.C. Smith shotguns.
