It is wonderful to have a history of the man, and the creation of the pottery. The examples of the pottery are great, with many unique items. As I build my collection, I keep referring back and re-reading the book. Truly a great resource and entertaining book.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Incredible biography and best guide to MrazekBy Bob ZakesWe treasure our collection of this beautiful Czech pottery much more after learning about this incredible artist and inventor. Great guide as well.0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Definitive Book on Mrazek PotteryBy John H. Marvin, Madison, WI - Broadway devoteeAn absolute must for anyone collecting Czech pottery! As an 83 year old Czech genealogist,and longtime collector of Mrazek pottery, this book fills many gaps about Joseph Mrazek not previously known. A true genius in arts and sciences, his brilliance is revealed through the loving remembrances of his son and grandson. Having corresponded with Harold Mrazek after purchashing a rare signed plate years ago, he wrote that the plate was only one of two left from a gathering of fleeing Czech artists held at the Waldorf Astoria on November 18, 1918. In attendance were Alfonse Mucha, Frantisek Kupka, and the first president of Czechoslovakia, Thomas Garigue Masaryk. Mrazek's life a true inspiration in this book.

The Art Pottery of Joseph Mrazek chronicles the extraordinary life of an American who emigrated to the United States from what is now the Czech Republic in 1908, and became a gifted painter and muralist, a decorated hero of the Czechoslovakian independence movement, an American undercover agent in World War I, and a friend of Tomas Masaryk, the "father of Czechoslovakia." Between the two world wars, Joseph Mrazek was the largest producer of hand-painted pottery in Czechoslovakia, most of which was exported to the United States. With the advent of the Second World War, he invented and manufactured a critically important military aircraft component that was integrated into more than 70,000 U.S. warplanes. Joseph Mrazek's most enduring legacy can be found in the brilliantly-colored, hand-painted pottery that he created from 1918-1933. The pieces remain as dramatic and vibrant today as when he first put brush to clay, retaining a brightness and durability that is astonishing. Today, his pottery can be found in museum collections and in the homes of thousands of collectors all over the world. This is his story.
